

CLUB ALIENO

I SEE THE WORLD
TURNING

THE PROJECT

I See the World Turning is a performance exploring how we discover the world and how new languages emerge through encounter.

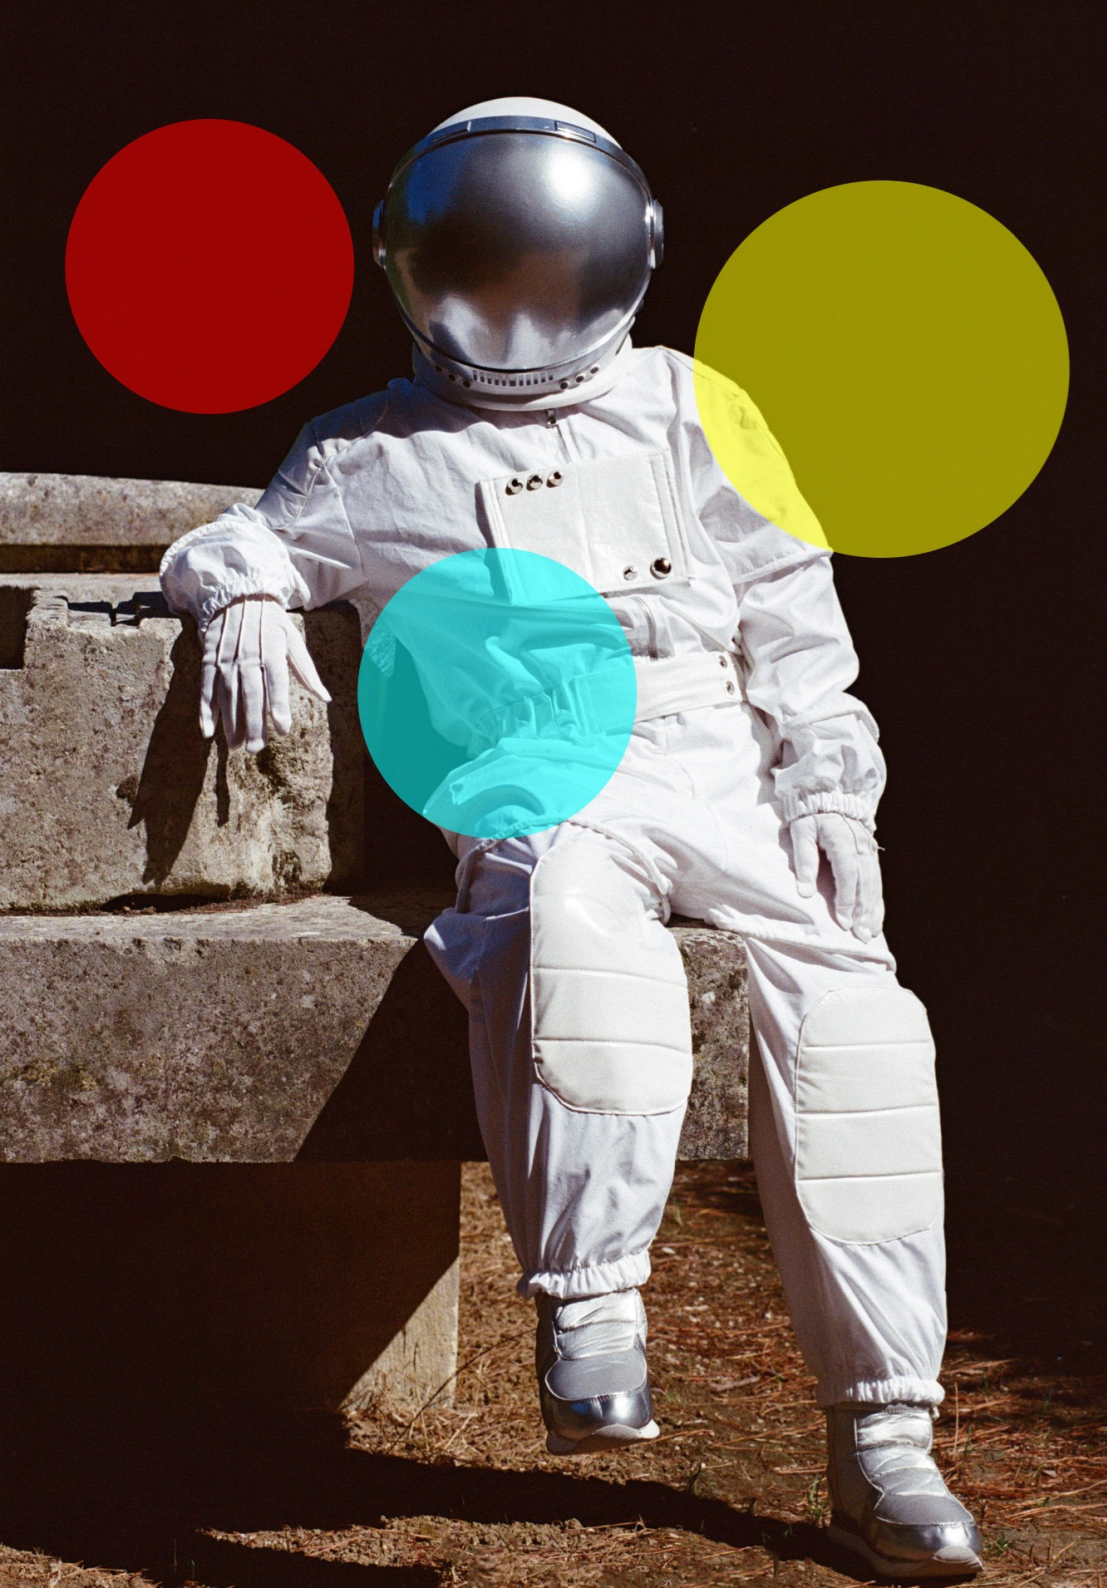

In an entirely white space, like a page yet to be written, an astronaut-explorer meets an ink blot. They seem to come from incompatible worlds: one moves through order, curiosity and measurement; the other is fluid, elusive and constantly changing.

Their encounter sparks a dialogue between bodies, marks, images, light and electronic music.

The dots expand, lines and colours appear, gestures leave traces, and the stage becomes a shared landscape.

Created by Club Alieno in dialogue with artist Hervé Tullet, the performance invites audiences to experience discovery as a physical and imaginative process. A poetic journey through diversity, relationships and the birth of communication, where meeting the unknown becomes a chance to invent new ways of seeing the world.

A SHARED WORLD

TWO BEINGS ON A BLANK PAGE.

Every encounter
leaves a mark.

Every mark becomes matter.

And from matter a world is born that neither could have created alone.
